The aim of the workshop is to show different roles a psychologist can fill in public institutions: basic social service, child protection unit, general consultations, motherhood department and hospital clinical unit.

Indeed, as clinician we should bear in mind not only our patients but even our position in the institution we are working for, trying to balance the goal of our job with the mission and the rules of the institution.

During the presentation will be described some experiences that the professional did in social and health services across Lombardy region including some clinical vignettes.
